

Kingdom Boldness

I was recently asked to do a short video on what makes me bold in the community and on the same day my daughter posted something that spoke volumes!

"Many ask me how I've become so bold and how do I do what I do? It's simple. It's the Holy Spirit in ME- NOT FROM OR FOR ME! There's no way in the world I'd stand on a stage, talk to strangers and stand on restaurant tables for ME! He's the only thing that I'm willing to look crazy for. To be misunderstood for. To be made fun of. To be laughed at. To look like a goof sometimes. Why? Because I encountered a real love that is beyond anything I've experienced. That is worthy to be praised. It's the REAL thing. HE hooked my very heart. where I had walls built up... He's made those areas completely tender.

His mercy is like the sun shining coming up giving me light to see my way. He's become ABBA Father when I was Fatherless. I've found identity and started to realize what my DNA looks like because I found relationship with my CREATOR! (Psalm 37:2)

It's the WHY that moves me into action- not the HOW! When you're living from overflow... it pours out effortlessly and at full capacity!

I can't keep my mouth shut if I'm in love. And... I'm most definitely in love... and want everyone to know that they can have what I have too! I've encountered the real thing and I can never & will never ever go back. Do you want this? It's here. Don't wait and waste another minute. It's available and HIS NAME IS JESUS!"

I have always loved the Lord, attended church and even served in the church, but it wasn't until a year ago that there was a fire lit in me that caused me to rise up in a boldness I had never had before.

I was being so wrecked by Holy Spirit that it became my desire to see others awakened, freed from bondage and rise up to their God given destinies. It is the dying of self to desire to see others experience the power of God!!

I used to be that person who was scared to pray over people and never thought I knew enough of the Bible to speak out on anything. Who was I to speak out?? Then I realized it's the Holy Spirit in me that gives me the REAL BOLDNESS to pray and speak out!! I have a voice for the Kingdom and I must use it if I want to see others freed!! After all, I have an audience of One now and do not care what anyone else thinks when I yield to the Lord!

I see things very differently now. He gave me new eyes and I can see the royalty in a man living on the streets, the beauty trying to break out in the prostitute and the incredible wisdom inside of the elderly women who eats in the soup kitchen.

If we don't step in to encourage and show them their value in the Kingdom, who will? When you see someone dying on the side of the street, do you just drive by? It's all the same...YOU HOLD THE KEY TO THEIR FREEDOM!!

Step back and look at where you came from. Not just your parents...but when you become a Child of God you see now that you carry the DNA of your Father! You and I carry the same DNA created by God!! To walk in the supernatural! How powerful is that!! And yet, we are afraid to speak out for the Lord...our Creator, our Father, our Healer, our Provider! I encourage you today to examine your life... ask God for the baptism of love. When you encounter a real love then a real boldness will begin to effortlessly overflow out of your life!!

GOD YEARNS TO REVEAL HIMSELF AS A MIGHTY WARRIOR ON BEHALF OF THOSE WHO WILL TAKE THE TIME TO BECOME ARMED AND DANGEROUS.

Many Christians today lack boldness. They are timid and apologetic; they tend to back down when confronted with evil or with the devil. The real root cause is their failure to appreciate the fact that they are righteous in God's sight—as righteous as Jesus Christ Himself. When we appreciate that truth, it makes us bold.
